

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Transmission data is generated depending on the status change of a device according to a message indicating the status information about the device and
5 the destination information about the message and is transmitted by electronic mail, and the user who manages the device can be notified of the status of the device at an appropriate timing by a data transfer process apparatus, a device, a network system, a data
10 transfer method, and a storage medium.

1004253 01102